Together for Good Course

Together For Good is a new downloadable course from Livability, which explores 5 key topics: Abundant Life, Keys to Success, Richer Relationships, Creating Community and Finding Meaning. It's inspired by Livability's Happiness Course. Using some key passages from Scripture, the course invites us to see that growing wellbeing isn't just an individual practice, but also a call to a way of living as a community. The material also aims to challenge the notion that being happy might be something unworthy of our attention; but instead should be at the heart of who we are. Download the course here.

Transforming Poverty resource inspired by I, Daniel Blake

The silver screen has inspired a Wolverhampton curate to create a new national church resource to engage with issues of poverty in our communities. Transforming Poverty places the Bible in relationship with the Ken Loach and Paul Laverty film I, Daniel Blake in a six-session course.

It aims to help church groups and congregations talk and pray about local poverty and its impact on their own and other's lives, and in the process be moved to make personal and collective steps towards bringing about change in Jesus' name for those in their community.

Promoting volunteering opportunities to University of Sussex students

University of Sussex Students' Union is currently trialing uploading local volunteering opportunities to an album on its main SU Facebook page once a week. If you would like to feature in this new album please complete the online form. Other ways you can promote volunteering opportunities to Sussex students include uploading information onto the Careers Hub, a portal students are familiar with for searching voluntary and employment opportunities. These opportunities do not need to be restricted to the local area.

A new Community Engagement and Volunteering Elective will be running for the second time starting again in Autumn 2019. Students are committing to volunteering for 30+ hours in the local community. If you want to receive more information about this, please contact Hannah Woodin, Community Volunteering Coordinator, at hannah.wd@sussexstudent.com
