

Clergy Conference chaplains and liturgical input:

Revd Sister Margaret Anne McAlister ASSP

Having read English at Durham University and taught English in secondary schools, in 1991 I joined All Saints Sisters of the Poor, an Anglican Religious Community in Oxford. I was ordained a priest in 2002, and have ministered in a variety of roles, including in parishes and chaplaincy as well as giving spiritual direction. My Community left living in Oxford last year. I now live in Worthing West Sussex and am a Day Chaplain at Chichester Cathedral, as well as a Duty Chaplain at Westminster Abbey. I also serve in the Chapel where I live. My interests include English Literature, classical and choral music and Christian art.

Canon Christopher Irvine

Fr Christopher Irvine is a former canon librarian of Canterbury Cathedral and has spent most of his ministry in theological education. He is a member of the Society of the Resurrection and has recently retired from being priest in charge of Ewhurst Green and Bodiam in the Diocese of Chichester.

Dr. Gemma Simmonds CJ

Gemma Simmonds is a sister of the Congregation of Jesus and director of the Religious Life Institute at the Margaret Beaufort Institute of Theology, Cambridge where she teaches theology. A former missionary in Brazil, university and prison chaplain, she has published extensively in the areas of ecclesiology, spirituality and theology of religious life.
